The Adventure Begins

Luna loved the night sky.
Every evening she would sit by her window and count the stars, one by one.

“One, two, three ...” she whispered softly.

“I wish I could visit the stars!”

That night, something magical happened.
A bright star floated down from the sky
and landed right on her windowsill!

“Hello, Luna!” said the star.

“My name is Sol. Would you like to come on an adventure?”

Luna smiled the biggest smile. “Yes, please!”

Sol took Luna's hand, and together they flew up, up, up into the starry night.

They danced among the stars and played hide-and-seek behind the moon.
Luna had never been so happy.

When morning came, Sol gently brought Luna back home.

“Will you come back?” Luna asked.

“Every night,” Sol whispered. “Just look up at the sky, and I will be there.”

And from that night on, whenever Luna looked up at the stars, the brightest one always twinkled just for her.
